Overview

Overall, Utah added 507,731 people to their population, an increase of 18.37% from the previous decade. Utah saw a majority of its population growth occur in the metropolitan areas of its center such as Salt Lake City and Provo, thus, Utah aligns with the general national trend of movement from rural to urban/suburban areas.

The White population increased by 10.77% over the decade, not in accordance with its national patterns of decline. The White population increased in most districts, but grew at a slower rate compared to other communities in urban areas throughout the state. The overall share of the population is now 75.36% compared to 80.38% in the 2010 Census.

The Latino population grew by 37.55% over the decade across most districts, though increases were concentrated slightly more to the center and north around cities such as Ogden, Orem, Provo, and Salt Lake City. The overall share of the population is now 15.07% compared to 12.97% in the 2010 Census.

The Asian population increased by 45.12% over the decade across the state, though most significantly around the major cities. Significant declines occurred in the southeast (i.e. House Districts 7 and 69) and northwest (i.e. House Districts 1 and 4). The overall share of the population is now 2.40% compared to 1.96% in the 2010 Census.

Over the decade, the 43.32% growth of the African American population was relatively more concentrated in Utah's fourth Congressional District. Declines were seen in the east (i.e. House District 69). The overall share of the population increased to 1.14% from 0.94% in the 2010 Census.

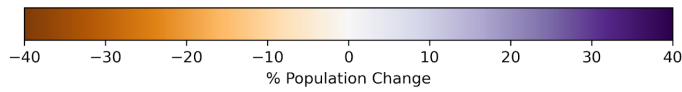

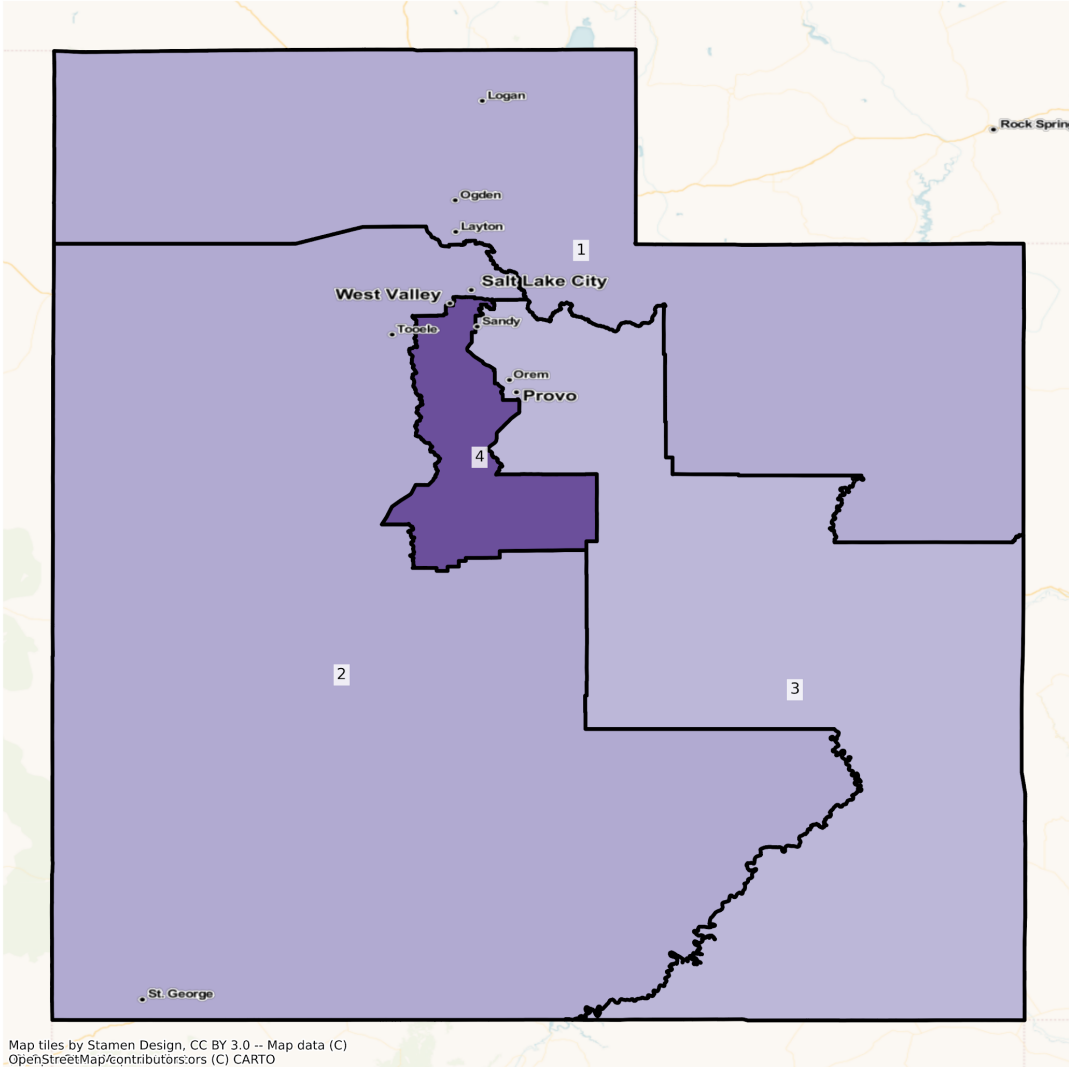

The Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islander population increased by 49.86% across the state, though most significantly around the urban hub in the center and north of the state. Declines were only seen in certain areas of Salt Lake City. The overall share of the population is now 1.10% compared to 0.87% in the 2010 Census.
